

This litigation chart is provided to clients of Hamstead and Associates, L.C. as an informational tool designed to enhance the client's understanding of the litigation process and the critical points at which resolution of the dispute may occur. We have learned that clients who are somewhat informed on the process are better able to inform us of pertinent facts and are better able to make good decisions when called upon us to do so in the course of litigation.